The Trust is committed to preventing slavery and human trafficking within its activities and to ensuring that its supply chains are free from slavery and human trafficking.

6. IDENTIFYING AND ADDRESSING RISKS

The Trust acknowledges two primary risk pathways through which modern slavery could affect the organization. The first pathway involves safeguarding issues that could directly affect our students. The second pathway is through our supply chain and the vendors with whom we engage.

Procurement and supply chain

The Trust is dedicated to maintaining transparency in our operations and to addressing modern slavery in a manner that aligns with our responsibilities under the Modern Slavery Act 2015. We hold an expectation of equally high standards from all our contractors, suppliers, and business partners.

Our procurement processes undergo an internal audit and are evaluated yearly by external auditors. We are exploring the use of frameworks provided by public sector purchasing organizations for all tenders, which inherently comply with the Modern Slavery Act 2015. Should we decide against utilizing an existing framework, we will ensure that the risk of modern slavery is considered and integrated into the criteria for tender evaluation.

We have completed a desk-based audit of our key suppliers' statements to reassure ourselves they continue to operate in accordance with the requirements of the act. No areas of risk were identified.

Safeguarding

The Trust places utmost importance on safeguarding, diligently adhering to statutory obligations and promoting a culture of protection among staff and students. A fundamental principle of our safeguarding strategy is the belief that safeguarding is a collective responsibility. Each employee is individually accountable for being aware of the signs and indicators of safeguarding concerns, understanding our safeguarding policies and procedures, and being prepared to respond effectively.

Within each school, a Designated Safeguarding Lead (DSL) is appointed to take the lead on safeguarding responsibilities. Additionally, each school is supported by a Safeguarding Governor, who regularly meets with the DSL to review crucial elements of their role and assists with reporting and the execution of annual audits as required by Section 157/175. This role also serves to reassure the local governing board about the school's safeguarding effectiveness.

At Trust level, a Trust Safeguarding Lead has been appointed to support the school-based DSLs, and a Safeguarding Trustee has been appointed to provide assurance to the of the effectiveness of safeguarding in the across the Trust.

Consequently, each level of Trust governance undertakes evaluations to assess the quality and impact of safeguarding measures.

7. TRAINING FOR STAFF

All employees receive annual Safeguarding training which incorporates modern slavery.

All staff members, regardless of their role or location, receive safeguarding training.

Moreover, the Trust maintains a Whistleblowing Policy that allows individuals to report wrongdoing or legal breaches confidentially and without fear of disciplinary repercussions.

In the 2023/24 period, to further elevate awareness, Key staff members within the Trust, identified as being either engaged in large-scale procurement activities or positioned to evaluate risks related to modern slavery, receive annual 'Modern Slavery Awareness' training through the Trust's online compliance and training platform, Smart Log.

After completing this course, key staff members will understand:

- The main types of modern slavery.
- Who the victims of modern slavery are and how they are exploited.
